September 2026

The AGEM Index fell by 118.24 points to 1,811.01 in September 2026, a 6.1 percent decrease from the prior month. This marked the first month-over-month decrease for the index since March. Compared to one year ago, the index declined by 5.9 percent, or 114.20 points. During the latest month, eight of the nine AGEM Index companies reported stock price decreases, which resulted in nine negative contributions and zero positive contributions to the index.

The largest negative contributor to the monthly index was Aristocrat Leisure Limited (ASX: ALL), whose 2.3 percent decrease in stock price led to a 46.60-point loss to the index. Meanwhile, Light & Wonder Inc. (ASX: LNW) saw its stock price decrease by 16.8 percent, leading to a 39.12-point decrease for the index. The notable decline in stock price for Light & Wonder Inc. followed the announcement that the CEO of its social-casino business, SciPlay, would step down from his position at the end of October.

In September, two of the three major U.S. stock indices decreased from the prior month. The Dow Jones Industrial Average fell by 4.3 percent, while the S&P 500 experienced a 0.5 percent loss. Meanwhile, the NASDAQ increased by 1.9 percent.

The AGEM Index

The Association of Gaming Equipment Manufacturers (AGEM) produces the monthly AGEM Index that comprises nine global gaming suppliers throughout the world. A total of five suppliers are based in the United States and are listed on the NYSE, Nasdaq or OTC market, while three trade on the Australian exchange and one on the Tokyo exchange. The index is computed based on the month-end stock price (adjusted for dividends and splits) of each company and weighted based on approximation of market capitalization. Market capitalizations for manufacturers trading on foreign exchanges have been converted to US dollar-equivalents as of month-end for comparability purposes. The AGEM Index is based on a 100-point value as of January 2005. Company stock prices and the AGEM Index contributions may be revised as necessary due to stock splits, reverse stock splits, mergers, acquisitions and other business activities.

About AGEM

AGEM is an international trade association representing manufacturers of electronic gaming devices, systems, lotteries, and components for the gaming industry. The Association works to further the interests of gaming equipment manufacturers throughout the world. Through political action, tradeshow partnerships, information dissemination and good corporate citizenship, the members of AGEM work together to create benefits for every company within the organization. Together, AGEM and its member organizations have assisted regulatory commissions and participated in the legislative process to solve problems and create a positive business environment.
